

1. Our commitment to privacy

CVC Limited (CVC/we/us/ours) respects and is committed to protecting your privacy and the privacy of personal information provided to us. We comply with the relevant Australian Privacy Principles (APPs) set out in the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth).

The purpose of this policy is to explain:

- (a) the kinds of information that we may collect about you and how that information is held;
- (b) the purposes for which we collect, hold, use and disclose personal information;
- (c) how you can access your personal information and seek to correct such information; and
- (d) what you can do if you have a complaint about a breach of your privacy.

We may from time to time update this policy.

2. Definitions

In this policy personal information means information or an opinion about an identified individual, or an individual who is reasonably identifiable:

- (a) whether the information or opinion is true or not; and
- (b) whether the information or opinion is recorded in a material form or not.

3. What kind of personal information do we collect and how do we collect it?

Type of information we collect

CVC is a diversified investment company in Australia across a diverse range of asset categories including listed, unlisted, property and funds management. The kind of information which we collect from you will depend on the type of relationship that we have with you. For example we may collect information from persons making enquires with us, prospective employees, counterparties to our commercial transactions or shareholders.

We only collect information which enables us to carry out our functions and activities, assess your credit worthiness, process transactions and provide our services to you. The type of information which we may collect includes your contact details (for example, your name, address, phone number, e-mail address, fax number), professional and business details and bank account details.

Tax File Numbers (TFN)

We may also collect TFNs from our shareholders for the purposes of sharing those with the Australian Taxation Office to allow your dividends to be taxed at the correct rate (as authorised under sections 202D and 202DB of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (Cth)). You are not required to provide us with your tax file number however not giving us your TFN may result in you paying tax on your relevant dividend at the highest marginal rate. We comply with Privacy (Tax File Number) Rule 2015 in managing your TFN.

How we collect your information

We will usually collect your personal information directly from you and will collect that information in a variety of ways, including through your use of our web site.

We also collect personal information from our related entities (being those listed in the schedule below) and our share registry.

Sometimes we may also collect personal information from third parties. We will only do this where:

- (a) we have your consent;
- (b) such a collection is reasonably necessary to enable us to provide you with our services or is reasonably necessary to enable us to manage our business; or
- (c) such a collection is authorised by law.

4. What do we use or disclose your personal information for?

Use of information

We will only use your personal information for the purpose for which we collected it (primary purpose) unless:

- (a) we have your consent;
- (b) there is another purpose (secondary purpose) and that secondary purpose is reasonably necessary or related to the primary purpose and you would reasonably expect, or we have informed you, that your information will be used for that secondary purpose; or
- (c) we are required by law to use or disclose your personal information.

For example, we may use your information to:

- (a) confirm your identity, contact you, collect money from you or pay you;
- (b) administer our dealings and potential dealings with you;
- (c) respond to requests from persons making enquires with us;
- (d) enable shareholders' holdings to be maintained and administered efficiently and to enable the company to comply with its legal and regulatory obligations, including for example, to distribute financial results, annual reports and other corporate communications to shareholders and to distribute dividend payments to shareholders;
- (e) to keep our share register up-to-date and any other purpose required or authorised by law;
- (f) enable us to fulfil our contractual obligations with our contractors;
- (g) assess your suitability to work with us;
- (h) comply with our legal obligations;
- (i) enable us to manage our internal business affairs, for example, quality assurance, risk management, billing and administrative purposes; and
- (j) communicate with you and update you on our activities and operations.

Disclosure of information

We will confine the disclosure of your personal information to the primary purpose for which that information has been collected, or for a related secondary purpose. This includes when disclosure is necessary to provide services to you, assist us in running our organisation, or for legal reasons.

We may provide your information:

- (a) to regulatory bodies, for example the Australian Securities and Investments Commission;
- (b) to our related entities as listed in the schedule below;

- (c) to our share registry;
- (d) third parties contracted to provide services to us, such as delivery providers and email marketing organisations;
- (e) other service providers such as printers and mailing houses in connection with managing our services and internal business affairs;
- (f) any other person or organisation if it is otherwise permitted or required by the Privacy Act or any other law or you authorise us to do so.

5. Why you may have received one of our publications & direct marketing

We will use your personal information in direct marketing.

When you register with us you will be given the option to opt-out of subscribing to our regular update service which will send you email and direct mail alerts in relation to events of interest, one-off marketing promotions and details of investment opportunities. Such alerts may include marketing information about products and services offered by us or our selected business partners or related entities.
